Gain on Rhine

Canadian Patrols Land on Shouwen

PARIS, Feb. 16.—(CP)—Canadian patrol landings on the Netherlands island of Schouwen in the estuary of the Rhine and Maas rivers were disclosed today as the 1st Canadian Army, operating roughly 90 miles east, thrust almost a mile deeper into the lower Rhine Valley of northwest Germany.

Aimed toward the heart of the industrial Ruhr, Gen. Crerar's British and Canadian troops moved on through storms of heavy artillery and mortar fire thrown by an increasing weight of German reserves.

The Canadian landings on Schouwen Wednesday night—claimed by the German radio to have been repelled—looked them to an island that lies north of the Beveland islands and the Waalcheren and Tholen islands which were captured by men of the 1st Canadian Army during its autumn campaign to clear the Scheldt estuary approaches to Antwerp to open that port of Allied shipping. Their results was not revealed in the announcement from Allied headquarters but they did draw enemy fire.

The Germans several times previously have reported Allied landings on Schouwen but Allied sources have mentioned only patrol actions against the island.

The announcement of even patrol activities this far from the main 1st Canadian Army front might indicate that not all the Canadian units are engaged in the present offensive toward the Ruhr.

By BOYD D. LEWIS

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin. PARIS, Feb. 16.—(BUP)—Canadian troops cleared a two-mile springboard on the south bank of the Rhine above Kleeve today and moved up guns and armor for a flanking sweep across the river into the arsenal cities of the German Ruhr.

Elsewhere on the flooded Rhine-land front, however, the Canadian First Army offensive ground almost to a standstill in the face of savage German opposition.

English and Scottish infantry attacking south and southeast of Kleeve were forced to dig in at most points under a terrific rain of mortar and shellfire laid across the approaches to Goch and Cleve.

Bad weather and continuing flash floods bolstered the Nazi defenses in the vital Rhine gateway to the Ruhr, and field dispatches said the enemy was pouring in.

It Says Here

by Bob Hope

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—There's a rumor going around the country about Hollywood that they're hard to believe. The report is that they've found two actors out there who aren't writing columns. Yes sir, even the illiterates of Hollywood are writing for the newspapers and if you don't believe it, what do you think you're reading now? Today the casting directors don't ask about an actor's profile, his experience, or his box office draw. They ask, "How many papers carry his column?" With so many actors represented in the press Hollywood has finally hit the ultimate—pressed ham.

The typewriter companies have a special offer for the writing actors, too—one typewriter with 10 extra capital "I" keys. Yes, sir, it's quite a shock to have a beautiful leading lady look up at you tenderly, lick her pencil and ask, "Is Dumbarton Oaks one, two or three words?"

Reds Open 1st Phase Of Battle for Berlin

LONDON, Feb. 16.—(CP)—Russian troops have surrounded Breslau, Moscow announced tonight.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—(CP)—The Russians have captured Crossen, German hinge-point on the south bank of the Oder 67 miles southeast of Berlin, a German commentator said tonight.

By ROBERT MUSEL

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, Feb. 16.—(BUP)—The Russian army newspaper Red Star reported today that Russian spearheads "striking at the very heart of Germany" were near Berlin's suburban villas and the river Spree.

Two Red armies were grinding away the defenses east and southeast of Berlin in a concerted assault that appeared to be the first phase of the showdown battle for the capital.

The Nazis reported that they had blocked a thrust against Cottbus, turntable of the defense network southeast of Berlin only 48 miles from the capital. Marshal Ivan S. Konev's army was closing on Cottbus in a lightning drive that had turned the Oder river line before the capital.

This flank shielded by Konev's push into Brandenburg province south-east of Berlin, Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov now was ready for the payoff drive against the city from his Oder valley positions 30-odd miles to the east.

The signal for the two-way attack on Berlin's near defenses was suggested on Feb. 16, Col. 3.

As Scheduled

Short Session Seen Starting February 28th

By FRANK FLAHERTY

OTTAWA, Feb. 16.—(CP)—In the light of continued silence from Prime Minister Mackenzie King there is a growing belief in capital political circles that the 19th parliament may meet for a final short session on Feb. 28 as scheduled.

This is another of the swings in viewpoint among the political observers who have been trying to predict the course of events during the next few months. Mr. King with whom decision rests keeps his own counsel. Cabinet met yesterday for the second time this week without a decision being announced.

MUST END APRIL 17. If a session is held it must end on or before April 17 when the five-year term of the 19th parliament expires. Mr. King is on record as saying the general election will be called before then and if a session is to be held the call would not be made until the end of the session.

Allowing the minimum 60-day interval between the firing of the date and voting, most observers assume a session of parliament opening Feb. 28 and ending about April 1 would mean the election on either June 1 or June 25.

Mr. King told parliament last session the election would come before July 1. His reason for this was that the first family allowances cheques go out then and he does not want to suggest that the distribution of money in what the government regards as a key permanent social welfare measure is so timed as to influence voting.

1,000 Big Planes Hit Ruhr Targets

LONDON, Feb. 16.—(BUP)—More than 1,000 Flying Fortress and Liberator bombers attacked oil plants and oil yards in Germany's industrial Ruhr today.

The targets of the American bombardment were two benzol plants near Dortmund and Gelsenkirchen, two oil refineries at Dortmund and Salzgitter, and transport facilities at Hamm, Qsnabrueck and Rhein.

Unofficial estimates of the record two-day assault on Germany indicated that more than 12,000 RAF, Canadian and American planes were engaged. Big forces were thrown into the direct support of the Red Army offensive in the Reich for the first time.

Decree Announces

Death Penalty for Nazis Who Try "To Shirk Duty"

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin. LONDON, Feb. 16.—(BUP)—The Berlin radio said today that the Nazis had set up special courts martial in every defence zone "threatened by the enemy" and had empowered them to impose the death penalty on Germans who try "to shirk their duty."

A broadcast DNB dispatch said the ministry of justice issued a decree setting up the courts. Officers say the action is a left-handed admission that the Nazis were facing increased resistance among their own people.

Effective now, the decree gave the courts jurisdiction over all offenses "which may endanger the German fighting strength or determination to fight."

ADMIRAL NIMITZ'S HEADQUARTERS, GUAM, Feb. 16.—(BUP)—More than 1,500 American planes from a naval armada only 300 miles off the Japanese coast smashed at the Tokyo area for at least nine hours today in the heaviest raid ever made on the enemy capital.

(The Japanese Domei News Agency reported that the American operation was believed to presage landing operations on two Jima "in the near future." Domei predicted that fresh carrier attacks on the Japanese main-

24 Pints Beer To Be Allowed Permit Holders

Effective Monday, Feb. 19, Alberta's beer quota will be raised to two dozen pints a month for each permittee, according to an announcement Friday by J. A. King, chairman of the Alberta Liquor Control Board. The increase doubles the amount of beer now allowed permit-holders.

Persons who have already bought beer this month will be allowed to purchase a second, dozen, on or after Monday, Mr. King said.

Doubling of the ration has been made possible by a "slight increase" in the amount of beer available and a decreased demand during cold weather, it was stated.

LIMIT LICENSEE QUOTAS

Increase in the amount of beer available to permit-holders will result in a limitation on licensee quotas, according to the announcement of Mr. King.

"Alberta apparently at the present time has the lowest quota in Canada, and even this increase will not materially change the ratio" between provinces, the statement said. "Newspapers" dispatches indicate some of the other provinces have recently further increased their quotas.

No changes were announced in hard liquor and wine allowances, which stand at 15 ounces and 26 ounces a month respectively.

30 Below Zero Winter's Coldest

Coldest weather of this winter occurred Friday when the temperature dipped to 30 below zero overnight and at 2 p.m. it was 16 below.

After Thursday's mild 17-midweek wind and 30 below temperature today's calm cold felt almost biting.

The cold snap is general all over the province with forecasts pointing the coldest temperature of 40 below.

City trailer buses couldn't take it and were running behind schedule all morning. The bus companies kept freezing every time the bus stopped and had to be released in time.

Maximum temperature yesterday was 2 below and the minimum 22 below. Estimated high for today is 5 below, and the forecast for "year and end" estimated low overnight is 25 below, and the high tomorrow, 2 below.

Boyle Soldier Wins Mention

OTTAWA, Feb. 16.—(CP)—Cpl. A. Carling, 38, of Boyle, Alta. has been mentioned in dispatches for gallantry in the Italian theatre of war, defence headquarters announced last night. Carling was a farmer. He joined the Canadian Infantry Corps in 1941 and has been overseas since late in that year. The citations covering the award is not available.

U.S. Writer Declares: 'Canadians Doing Good Job'

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—(CP)—Tribute to the work of the 1st Canadian Army was paid today by Mr. George Fredking, in his daily military commentary in the Herald Tribune.

Under the caption, "Canadians Doing a Good Job," Mr. Fredking wrote:

"The moment is perhaps appropriate for pointing out that General Crerar and his staff of the 1st Canadian Army have carried out with great skill and workmanlike precision every task so far entrusted to them. He and his army have had a great deal of experience in operations over water-logged terrain, notably in the Scheldt Estuary campaign.

"It is good to realize that a further advance of only a few miles will, on most of the front, bring the troops to higher and drier ground, and give an opportunity to cut loose the armored divisions which must be eagerly awaiting their moment of opportunity."

Pearkes Asked To Be Relieved Of His Command

and vigorously asserted that the voluntary enlistment system still advocated by Gen. McNaughton had failed and would fail. The Pacific coast commander told how he had scraped the bottom of the barrel for volunteers from his command, enlisting some 10,000 for overseas service, and asserted that it would be impossible to get even 500 more by appeal for voluntary enlistment.

HOT WORDS EXCHANGED

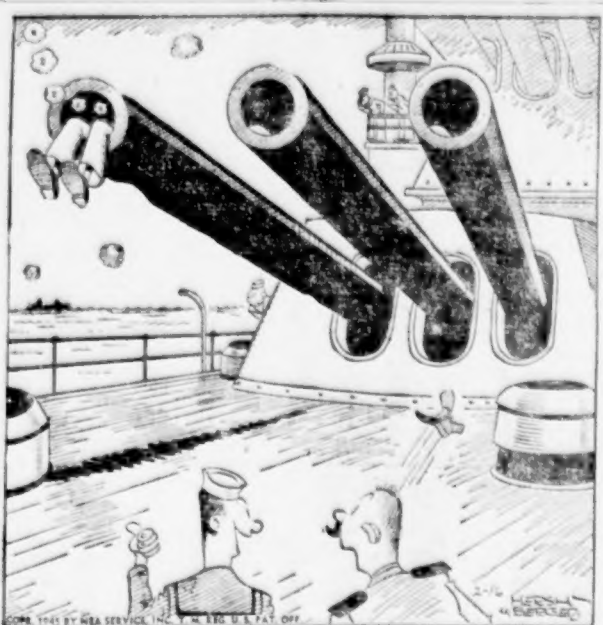

Some hot words were exchanged, it is understood, at the conference. Gen. McNaughton insisted on continuance of the voluntary enlistment system and exacted a promise from the senior officers that they would carry out his policy. Later, an assemblage of officers in the Pacific coast command issued statements that the voluntary enlistment system was a failure. Maj. Gen. Pearkes' name was not mentioned in connection with those statements though undoubtedly they followed his personal views. There was some talk at the time that the officers who made the statements might be court-martialed but no action was taken.

When Gen. McNaughton and the government reviewed the voluntary enlistment policy in favor of drafting NRMA men on Nov. 23, last, by announcement on the floor of the House, it was evident that the army chiefs demand for the draft instead of voluntary enlistments had been accepted.

It appeared that the differences between the senior officers and the new head of the department of defence had been smoothed over. It seemed that Maj. Gen. Pearkes' request to be relieved of his command because his recommendations for a draft had not been accepted at the conference of Nov. 14 were to be ignored.

COMES AS SURPRISE

The announcement, therefore, on Thursday night, February 15, that the department had issued an order relieving Major General Pearkes of his command, came somewhat as a surprise. It accounts for Maj. Gen.

FUNNY BUSINESS—"If you ask me, I don't think it's the safest place in the world for a sista!"

Pearkes' statement issued to his troops saying merely that by order from National Defence headquarters, I cease to be general officer commanding Pacific coast command."

Officially, both the statement of the defence department and Major General Pearkes' therefore are correct. But unless the timing of the request and its acceptance three months later are taken into consideration, the whole picture is not complete. Of course, the relieving of Maj. Gen. Pearkes of the Pacific coast command does not mean he is dismissed from the army—he may still be given other duties in active service.

HINTS REINFORCEMENT PROBLEM IS CAUSE

VANCOUVER, Feb. 16.—(CP)—Maj. Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, said today he resigned as general officer commanding-in-chief, Pacific Command, because "under existing conditions I was unable to render a loyal and conscientious service."

The 55-year-old professional soldier said in an interview that to continue "holding my appointment under such circumstances would be dishonorable."

Gen. Pearkes declined to comment on reports that he resigned because national defence headquarters had rejected recommendations made by him on the overseas reinforcement question.

Asked if the recommendations concerned his ideas on the matter of using drafted soldiers for overseas duty, he said "that would be close to the mark."

Plan to Review Teacher "Freezing"

VANCOUVER, Feb. 16.—(CP)—Ernest F. Willoughby of Winnipeg, president of the Canadian Teachers' Federation, said in an interview here yesterday that selective service officials have agreed to review regulations which freeze teachers in their profession. Dr. Willoughby, principal of a Winnipeg junior high school, is making a tour of Western Canada under auspices of the wartime information board.

Fort St. John To Be Serviced By CPA Planes

Regular passenger and air mail service to Dawson Creek, B.C., will be resumed on Monday of next week after a lapse of two years, it was announced Friday by Canadian Pacific Air Lines officials here.

B. Brown, traffic manager for the Yukon Division of the company, said that the service should mean a great deal for residents of the important railroad town some 460 miles northwest of Edmonton by rail.

Due to airport facilities at Dawson Creek being utilized almost completely by military aircraft, commercial traffic to and from Dawson Creek was suspended early in 1942.

On the resumed schedule planes will leave Edmonton daily for Dawson Creek at 10 a.m., arriving at Dawson Creek at 11:15 a.m. Southbound planes will leave Dawson Creek at 1:50 p.m., Pacific time and arrive in Edmonton at 5 p.m., Mountain time.

Dawson Creek, end of steel for the Northern Alberta Railway, was one of the main construction centres for the Alaska Military Highway.

At one time it was estimated that 42,000 troops and civilians were quartered there.

Regular stops for C. P. Air Lines planes on the Edmonton-Yukon run will be Grande Prairie, Dawson Creek, Fort St. John, Fort Nelson, Watson Lake and Whitehorse.

Soviets Open First Phase Berlin Battle

gested by a Red Star dispatch which said:

"Only a little distance is left to the banks of the Spree and Berlin's suburban villas. The air is saturated with the odor of hot gunpowder. The German land is burning and smoking. The smoke from fires and explosions darkens the horizon. The terrain and weather favor the enemy, who never fought so stubbornly or so desperately as now that our spearheads are striking at the very heart of Germany."

Moscow dispatches said that smashing blows by British and American planes at Dresden, Cologne and other key points behind the German lines had induced frantic German efforts to bring up reinforcements to face Konev's troops.

TELL OF ALLIED AID

Soviet newspapers published Allied communiqués on the bombings in support of the Red Army, and today the official Tass news agency carried a dispatch from London summarizing them.

Moscow dispatches said that behind Konev's forward positions dozens of isolated or partially isolated German groups battled desperately against tightening Soviet rings or to escape the closing jaws of Red Army gunners.

The Berlin communiqué said that in southern Pomerania the Germans had re-established contact with the "separatists" encircled bases of Arnswalde and Bohn, the latter 20 miles south of Berlin.

INTO BRANDENBURG

Advancing at the same breakneck speed that marked the opening days of the Russian winter offensive five weeks ago, Marshal Ivan S. Konev's First Ukrainian Army broke across the Silesian border and plunged 24 miles or more into Berlin's home province of Brandenburg.

Konev's tanks and armored troop carriers drove ahead 25 miles in two days and were closing in on the city. The two German strongholds of Cottbus and Guben, covering Berlin's southern approaches.

American heavy bombers came through with another smashing blow at Cottbus yesterday in direct support of the advancing Russians—last reported only 12 miles from the city.

THREATEN WEDGE

The spectacular breakthrough threatened to drive an armored wedge between Berlin and the bombarded Saxon capital of Dresden, barely 48 miles east of the Red Army.

Moscow dispatches said Konev's troops had reached the Neisse river, last important water barrier before Dresden, and the river fortress of Goerlitz, 48 miles east of the Saxon capital, was believed already under assault.

German military spokesmen indicated the Neisse already had been breached at some points, and they reported that Konev's troops had joined forces with Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's First White Russian Army massed along the Oder directly east of Berlin.

Japs in Burma Said "On Run"

NEW DELHI, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck, British commander in India, said yesterday the Japanese were "on the run" in Burma and predicted the enemy's thrust into interior China "will not merely be stemmed but reversed."

"I don't want to strike a too confident blow," he said, "but the Indian troops are now in a position to deliver a great deal of bitter fighting in Burma."

Gen. Auchinleck said that the Japanese had been driven out of the Indian subcontinent and were now being driven out of Burma. He said that the Japanese had been driven out of the Indian subcontinent and were now being driven out of Burma.

Destroy Evidence

LONDON, Feb. 16.—(CP)—Paris and Moscow radio reported yesterday that Heinrich Himmler had ordered the Gestapo to destroy all lists of party members and party cells. The order was presumably issued to mask the identity of party members after the fall of Germany.

Whites Slain, Negroes Saved In Massacre

PETERBOROUGH, Ont., Feb. 16.—(CP)—The parents of WO1, Griffen Young of Peterborough said today they had been informed by the RCAF that their son was killed last Aug. 25 when the German Gestapo massacred the entire white prisoner personnel in a mixed white-and-Negro prison camp.

Young's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Young, said they were not told the number of prisoners involved but they were told of the affair by Pte. L. T. H. Floyd, Anglican RCAF padre stationed at Trenton, Ont., and that his information was received by the RCAF at Ottawa through an escaped American prisoner. The parents were under the impression that Young may have been the only Canadian in the camp.

WHITES ARE SHOT

Here is the story the parents were told:

Young was shot down over France last Aug. 25. His squadron leader reported that young bailed out and landed safely. Two days after he landed the prison camp massacre was said to have occurred. White prisoners were shot and the Negroes were taken by the Germans to the Nazi western front retreat and put to work.

One of the white Americans was of dark complexion. He passed himself off as a Negro and got away. Later he escaped from France and on reaching England reported to the RCAF concerning Young. He said Young's name was the only Canadian name he remembered.

Young, 29 years old, enlisted in 1941 and saw service in the Near East before being moved to the Western Front. In his younger days he was a star halfback on the Peterborough collegiate football team.

Canucks Find Nazis' Larders Well - Stocked

By DOUGLAS AMARON WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY IN GERMANY, Feb. 16.—(CP)—Canada's fighting men are learning what it is to live among German civilians and they have come across some well-stocked larders.

I saw some German homes between Klevs and Warleben. Unlike buildings in Kiev, which were almost all obliterated, these houses were fine undamaged examples of country homes.

Canadian soldiers living in them said they found surprisingly few Nazi tokens and that pictures of Hindenburg, late German president, far outnumbered those of Hitler. The houses had etchings of familiar English scenes on the walls.

There is central heating as well as stoves in most houses and cellars are well stocked with coal. Food, too, apparently is plentiful, and the Canadians, who have been eating "compo" rations since the offensive began, are enjoying steaks, cured hams, fowl, fresh vegetables and preserved fruit.

Actress Dies

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Jane Mordant, 64, a famous actress who played leading roles in such stage hits as "The Sign of the Cross," "The Sign of the Cross," and "The Sign of the Cross," died at her home here yesterday.

Newsman Dies

PARIS, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Leon Louis Deffoux, 63, former head of the French news agency Havas and an author and literary critic, died today at his home.

NAZIS ADMIT DRESDEN NOW RUBBLE HEAP

LONDON, Feb. 16.—(CP)—The German radio last night described Dresden, Germany's famed art centre now lying in the path of the Red Army, as "smoking heaps of rubble" left by the massive Allied air attacks. Transocean Agency said German officials "announced with violent rage" the complete destruction of the Baroque Catholic cathedral and the Zwinger, famous art gallery, as well as palaces, the old and new town halls, the history museum, opera house and hospitals.

Isley Action On Tax Payment Is Protested

Action of Hon. J. L. Isley, Dominion minister of finance, in withholding payments due to the Saskatchewan government under the 1941 tax transfer agreement was protested in principle Friday by Premier Ernest Manning.

Text of the premier's telegram follows: The Alberta government is gravely concerned over the principle involved in the withholding of payments due to the province of Saskatchewan under the specific terms of the Dominion-provincial tax transfer agreement.

TAKE SERIOUS VIEW

"While in no way approving or condoning the reported action of the Saskatchewan government in the withholding of payments due to the province of Saskatchewan under the specific terms of the Dominion-provincial tax transfer agreement, we take a most serious view of the Dominion government withholding for any causes whatsoever which are outside the provisions contained in the agreement itself, monies due and payable to any province under the terms of a specific agreement, especially an agreement under which a province vacated certain fields of taxation upon which it was largely dependent for revenue and which therefore it agreed to vacate only because of the definite agreement that such revenues would be replaced by payments from the Dominion government."

Any violation of the cardinal principle that the terms and provisions of a specific agreement of this nature between governments must not be altered or nullified other than for the causes and in accordance with provisions specified therein in our opinion constitutes a breach of contract which cannot be justified and when it is established as a precedent will have the effect of rendering all such agreements valueless.

We therefore feel compelled to offer the strongest possible protest against any violation of the principle above referred to.

Alberta Ready Pay Half Cost Breaking Land

Federal authorities that if this or even a lesser amount is granted debt free, we are prepared to make available to each Alberta veteran desirous of settling on land, one-half section (320 acres), to be farmed by him for a ten-year period, at the end of which he will be given free title to the land.

In addition the provincial government is prepared to pay one-half the costs of clearing and breaking a minimum of forty acres on each half-section unit, provided the Dominion government will undertake to pay the other half, and we strongly urge that such an arrangement is fair and equitable and should be approved and implemented immediately in the interests of the returned men.

All crown lands to be made available under the Provincial government land settlement program will have a proper soil survey to be certain it is suitable for agricultural purposes. These lands will be selected in areas where social services can and will be made available to those settling on the land.

The Provincial government is opposed to any proposal for the settlement of returned men or any other group of people in separate colonies or communities which tends to isolate the settlers from their fellow citizens. The Province favors and will encourage settlement as far as possible in areas which are already partially settled in order that the new settlers will be able to enjoy the benefits of established social services and to enable them to become more readily and speedily assimilated into normal civil life with the normal enjoyments and responsibilities which it provides for and demands from citizens as a whole.

of explosives on enemy air bases and other key installations in and around Tokyo.

Some 750 miles south of Tokyo, another big task force of battleships and other surface craft joined land-based planes from the Marianas in bombarding the Japanese stepping-stone island of Iwo.

A Japanese communiqué issued at 6:20 p.m. Tokyo time (3:30 a.m. MDT) said approximately 30 warships began the bombardment at dawn and still were pouring shells into the tiny air base island in the volcano group 10 hours later.

INVASION POSSIBLE

(A Washington dispatch said the carrier attack on Tokyo "will could serve as a cover" for some operation such as an invasion of Iwo.)

The waves of planes attacking Tokyo may have caught a major portion of the surviving Japanese fleet in Tokyo Bay, either at the big port of Yokohama or in the Yokosuka naval base, 10 and 20 miles respectively south of the capital.

Japanese imperial headquarters reported the planes bombed the Tokyo area from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m. (6 p.m. Thursday to 3 a.m. today), in waves, concentrating mainly on airfields.

EXTENSIVE BLOWS

Supplementary enemy broadcasts said the raids extended from Tokyo along the Boso peninsula, on which Yokohama and Yokosuka are situated, into adjacent Shizuoka prefecture. At least four main formations participated with two of them comprising 300 planes each, Tokyo said.

The first bombers appeared over the Tokyo area about 7 a.m. in two waves of 300 planes each, the enemy account said. One attacked until 9 a.m., the second until 9:30 a.m. A third wave struck from 12:30 p.m. to 1:30 p.m., and a fourth followed, finally breaking off the attack at 4 p.m., it was said.

In the armada attacking Tokyo was the greatest carrier force the world ever has seen, plus fast battleships, cruisers and destroyers. It includes most of the 20 combat carriers known to be in commission.

The first squadron of American navy planes ever to attack Tokyo swept in over the capital area at 7 a.m. (4 p.m. Thursday, MDT) and unloaded its bombs on airfields.

KNOCK OUT DEFENCES

Then, hour on hour, bombers and fighters swarmed over the Tokyo district, systematically knocking out defence installations in grim revenge for the destruction wrought by Japanese carrier planes at Pearl Harbor, three years, two months and one week ago.

Airfields dotting the great plain around Tokyo were the first objectives marked for destruction. Next presumably came naval dockyards, warships and other such key targets.

(An NBC broadcast from Guam said the raid was believed causing "great devastation and desolation." If the navy runs true to form, the broadcast said, "Tokyo will be a ruined city by the time we get through.")

The broadcast said the attack appeared designed primarily to knock out Japanese air resistance.

DOGFIGHTS LIKELY

Numerous dogfights probably swirled over Tokyo, but the carrier planes were attacking in such force that they were expected to win and maintain temporary aerial supremacy over the capital.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander of the Pacific fleet, announced the raid in a jubilant communique from his advance headquarters on Guam, 1,500 miles southeast of Tokyo.

It marked the second time that American planes have taken off from carriers to bomb Tokyo. In April 1942, the then Lt.-Col. James Doolittle led a force of 16 twin-engined Mitchell bombers off the carrier Hornet for the first raid in history on Tokyo, the world's third largest city.

But on that occasion, the planes all were army bombers and took off while the Hornet still was 800 miles from the shores of Japan. Today, Mitscher's carriers are standing 300 miles or less from Tokyo itself.

Calls For Probe Of False Rumors

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—(AP)—A demand for investigation of army officers overseas for spreading false stories about British reverse lend-lease policies was made yesterday before the house foreign affairs committee. Rep. Luther A. Johnson (Dem., Tex.) recommended the inquiry after lend-lease officials refuted a rumor that United States air forces are charged with landing fee for the use of a lend-lease constructed air base in Scotland.

Diamond Drill Specials Run To Northland

Canadian Pacific Air Lines Ltd. Lodestars now operating between Edmonton and Yellowknife are being dubbed the "diamond drill specials."

From 30 to 40 complete diamond drilling outfits, ranging in weight from 750 to 6,000 pounds, have been transported by air to the Yellowknife area, David Stirling, assistant traffic superintendent for the MacKenzie Division, CP Air Lines, said Friday.

"It is without doubt the greatest rush of drilling equipment into the north since 1938 and we feel certain that developments there are of a truly permanent nature," he said.

KEPT BUSY

A score or more of companies seeking good gold-bearing ore, from eastern Canada and the U.S.A. have been busy bringing in drilling equipment and supplies all winter and there seems to be no letup in sight, the official said.

The big Lodestars, equipped with wheels, have been landing on the ice surface of Great Slave Lake. Three trips weekly each way are being made. In addition there have been many specially chartered flights.

Supplies of all kinds are also being freighted in by air. Samples for assay have been flown out to go east for testing and reports are that the reports to date are highly satisfactory and extremely encouraging.

Alberta Planning Greater Number Of Farm Schools

LETHBRIDGE, Feb. 16.—(CP)—Plans for the expansion of Alberta's system of agricultural schools to meet present needs were revealed here by G. S. Longman of Edmonton, deputy minister of agriculture, when he addressed the annual meeting of the Lethbridge board of trade Wednesday. Amendments to the act governing the schools were forecast for the coming session of the legislature, and it is believed this renewal of interest in training in vocational agriculture will prove widely beneficial in the economic and cultural life of the province. Mr. Longman intimated additional schools will be established.

Muddy Roads Break Down Chance for Break-Through Lost By Too Many Men and Supplies

By NED NORDNESS

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY IN GERMANY, Feb. 16.—(AP)—The battle southeast of Kleve reached a new crescendo of fury last night as British and Scottish troops of the 1st Canadian Army fought with German panzer grenadiers and fresh reinforcements on the broad highways leading to pivotal Goch and Calcar.

The battlefield was shrouded with swirling mists as British troops stormed and captured Kessel, four miles northwest of Goch.

Forward officers who know their way declared yesterday that this slow slugging match might well have been a spectacular breakthrough had not too many men and too much equipment been crowded into the narrow battlefield.

MISTAKE MADE

They assert that the offensive broke eight days ago caught the Germans with nothing in the Reichswald area. Then, they said, the mistake was made of attempting to move a stupendous weight of material over muddy roads that could not withstand the wear and tear.

To be sure, the enemy pays with an appalling number of dead by trying to check the crushing weight of this offensive, but the initial opportunity has been lost whereby it might have become a spectacular break-through.

Forward troops could move no faster than material. Thus the enemy, after recovering from the initial shock, pushed up reinforcements and they are still coming in by his and pieces.

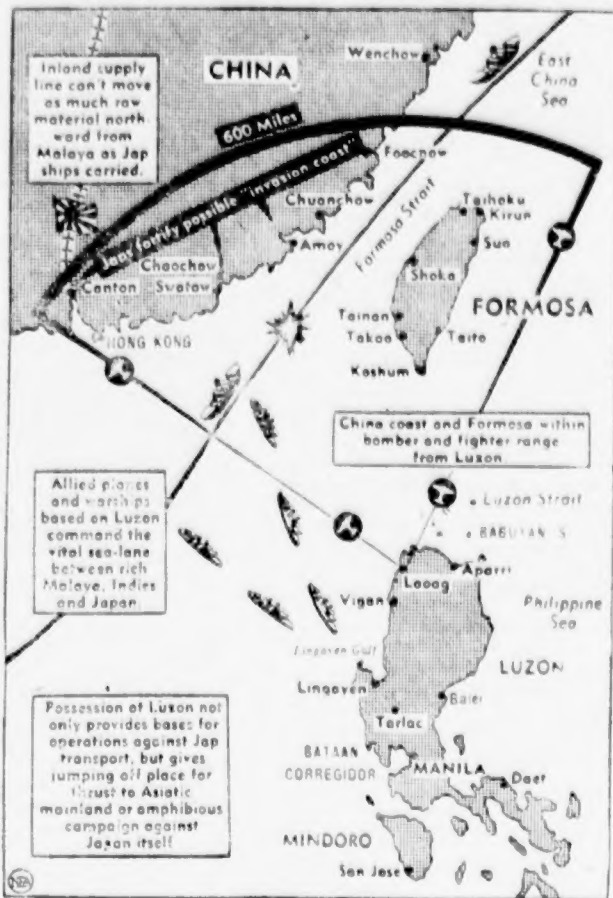

"Had we removed all surplus material and troops and pushed forward against the one division facing us with the maximum amount needed for that operation, there is no telling where we would be by now," one officer said.

"Instead, we tried to move the whole damn shooting match up front—troops that weren't immediately needed. They clogged the quagmired roads and we were stopped until we were pressing ahead in a shooting match."

Now, however, the roads are drying and the advance is moving out of the flooded flats into the rolling countryside. Once beyond the pivotal defence centres of Goch and Calcar, officers said, the terrain becomes more favorable.

Govt. of Manitoba Plans Protection For Auto Victims

WINNIPEG, Feb. 16.—(CP)—The Manitoba government is going to introduce legislation at the present session of the legislature to protect victims of motor traffic accidents, assuring they get damages from court judgments even if motorists involved have insufficient funds.

An "unsatisfied judgment fund of from $100,000 to $175,000" will be established under the highway traffic act to meet the claims, said Attorney-General J. O. McLennan. Manitoba's estimated 100,000 automobile owners will be assessed a fee, not exceeding $1 annually to establish the fund which is believed to be the first of its kind in North America.

Canucks Carve Out Sprinboard On Rhine River

Canadian troops on the northern flank of Cremer's line won the only important success of the past 24 hours. Using amphibious tanks and assault boats to press home their attack, the Canadians wiped out all German resistance on a two-mile stretch of the Rhine's south bank opposite the Emmerich Ferry crossing, five miles northeast of Kleve.

NO AIR SUPPORT

Bad weather stripped the Allies of their aerial support on that sector of the front, however, and the strength of the enemy forces on the far bank suggested a crossing might be held up until bombers could be brought back into action.

Headquarters spokesmen denied that any crossing of the Rhine had yet been made or even attempted.

Four miles to the south, the Black Watch and Gordon Highlanders were stalled within three miles of Calcar when the Germans rushed in heavy reserves of tanks, troops and big guns to cover that key road centre.

Equally determined enemy opposition obliged United Kingdom troops to dig in on the Kleve-Uedem road farther west after a small advance.

STRENGTHEN HOLD

Other Old Country forces south of the Reich forest strengthened their bridgehead across the Niers river on both sides of Kessel, 41 miles northwest of Goch. Kessel itself was in British hands and the troops were clearing out isolated enemy strongpoints on the south bank of the river between that town and Gennep, almost five miles to the west.

On the U.S. Third Army front, elements of the 80th Infantry Division gained another half-mile of enemy soil between the Sure and Pruem rivers above Echterbach. They seized high ground inside the Siegfried line about a mile southeast of Gruchten, eight miles northwest of Echterbach against heavy rifle and machine gun fire.

Sharp but local fighting also flared up on the Saar sector of the U.S. Seventh Army front where an infantry division drove forward more than a mile on a five-mile line to recapture Rimling, eight miles east of Sarreguemines. The action was regarded primarily as a line-straightening operation, however.

BIG TACTICAL BLOW

The American air forces got in their biggest tactical blow of the day on the Seventh Army front yesterday, throwing in a terrific attack on a concentration of 1,500 railway cars caught in the Offenburger freight yards.

About 800 medium bomber and fighter-bombers lashed at the Offenburger yards throughout the day and returning fliers claimed the destruction of 621 cars and 23 locomotives. Another 735 cars and 45 locomotives were damaged.

Gen. Pearkes Was Relieved Of Command

VANCOUVER, Feb. 16.—(CP)—Maj. Gen. George R. Pearkes, VC, DSO, MC, former commander of Canada's 1st Division overseas, yesterday was relieved of his command as general officer commanding in chief, Pacific Command.

And while Gen. Pearkes, 56, said he ceased to hold his command by order from defence headquarters, he had been relieved at his own request. The Canadian Press learned that he may enter federal politics shortly.

It was learned he had asked to be removed from certain recommendations he made were not acceptable in national defence headquarters.

Nature of the recommendation was unknown and Gen. Pearkes asked for comment on his leaving his command said only, "I'd rather not say anything. Ottawa has the full details."

In a message to his officers and men the general, who was a brigade commander overseas and took over the 1st Division when Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton became Canadian corps commander, said:

"By order from national defence headquarters I cease to be general officer commanding, Pacific Command."

In this message was a possible hint that the 54-year-old soldier and one-time bugler boy who rose to become one of Canada's most decorated soldiers, would enter politics.

SIGNIFICANT WORDS

The message contained this sentence:

"I deeply regret that circumstances now make it necessary for me to cease to be so intimately associated with the troops I have loved so long, but I hope opportunities will arise in which I can still render some service to you, to the men who are returning from the three services overseas and to the country as a whole."

If this forecast the General's entry into federal politics, he would be Canada's second general of the war to do so. Gen. McNaughton, his former chief, having taken over the defence department and only recently lost out in a bid for the Commons seat of Grey North.

Gen. Pearkes' successor temporarily will be Brig. Donald R. Sargent, officer commanding the combined operations school at Courtenay, B.C., and former officer commanding Vancouver defences.

TOOK OVER IN 1942

Gen. Pearkes took over the British Columbia command in September, 1942, and his message to his men yesterday said that while the strategic position in the Pacific had improved, the possibility of enemy raids on Canada's Pacific Coast had not altogether passed.

Ever a hard driver of men, the former Pacific Command general held strong views on the draft, question and wasted no words in saying he believed home defence troops, of which he had many in his command, should volunteer for service anywhere.

In the last year alone, he said, 10,000 men had left his British Columbia command for the European theatre.

Gen. Pearkes came to the Pacific Command from England at a time when the Canadians there, waiting to get into some fighting, were undergoing more and more arduous training. He drove them hard. But he earned their devotion and loyalty, and himself the reputation among brother officers of being "Canada's best training general."

THANKS HIS MEN

In his message Gen. Pearkes thanked the men for their support in the 2½ years that he had been in charge of them.

Gen. Pearkes went to Ottawa this winter and left his old chief, Defence Minister McNaughton, that he thought the voluntary method of recruiting had been "milked dry" but he was willing to give it one more chance. It was after this that the government said the voluntary method had failed and conscription for overseas was adopted.

The only Canadian general officer on active service in this war to wear the Victoria Cross, Gen. Pearkes wears five wound stripes as evidence of his actions during the first Great War.

FREAK ACCIDENT

One of his wounds resulted from a freak accident behind the lines. Playing baseball with a group of other officers, a player gave the home plate the proverbial tap with the bat preparatory to swatting out the plate. He had been given the self-same tap innumerable times previously. This time, the supposedly "dud" ball blew up, killing two men and wounding a future general in the stomach.

AFL Negotiations With Lewis Fail

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 16.—(AP)—The American Federation of Labor executive council reported last night that negotiations with John L. Lewis for re-affiliation of the United Mine Workers had failed. President William Green said the failure was a last moment condition for the re-affiliation imposed by Lewis in a letter to Green last Sunday, that the miners should be represented on the council as a condition to their return.

List of Internees Not Yet Received

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—(AP)—War Secretary Stimson said yesterday the war department has not yet received a list of internees from Santo Tomas and other Japanese camps in Manila. He told a news conference the department had requested Gen. MacArthur's headquarters to expedite transmission of the names but there has been no response so far.

About 60 Canadians have been reported among those freed from Santo Tomas.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 16.—(CP)—The Manitoba legislature yesterday unanimously adopted the Speech from the Throne after 32 members participated in the debate. Second reading also was given to the War and Women's Property Act, giving married women the right to hold property as if single women.

Canada's Civilian Defence Committee Is Now Disbanded

OTTAWA, Feb. 16.—(CP)—Canada's civilian defence committee formed five years ago to serve in case of enemy air attacks upon the Dominion or in other emergencies, has been disbanded, it was disclosed last night.

The reason: Redundancy of the Civil Defence Act, published months ago by the office of the director of civil defence, carried an announcement over the signature of Brig. Alex Ross, director of civil defence, saying the government had decided to disband civil defence organizations.

Property, carry on a business, and even go into debt in their own names, thus placing them in the same legal status as single women.

Men To Spare

The second contingent of Canadians, nearly 500 strong, has returned on "rotation leave" from the western front or Italy.

On both these fronts Canadian troops are heavily engaged. In the west they are carrying out a vital operation in the flanking of the Siegfried line—under extremely difficult conditions—upon the success of which may hinge the general Allied offensive.

In Italy they are holding a sector in a theatre where the fighting is being pushed with all the energy the weather will permit, in order to prevent the diversion of enemy troops to the western and eastern fronts.

Obviously these are circumstances in which no Canadian—or other—Allied soldiers could hope for leave if the ranks were not full and reinforcements available in numbers fully up to the foreseeable need for weeks or months ahead.

That the "rotation leave" program is being carried through without interruption is evidence that sufficient replacement reserves are "in being" in Britain or on the continent to keep the Canadian ranks unbroken despite battle casualties and men going on long leave home.

Corregidor Again

The Tokyo broadcaster broke the bad news to his jittery listeners in a sentence which may well stand as the model for those who are called on to disclose unpleasant tidings gently. He said: "The whole Corregidor sector is fraught with an atmosphere foreshadowing some new development."

What he meant was that a hail-storm of Allied bombs and shells was blasting the fortifications into rubble, while a fleet of transporters waited the psychological moment to land flocks of tanks and swarms of infantry on the rocky island where the Japs are making their last stand at Manila.

Three years ago Corregidor was the scene of another last stand—that of the handful of American troops who had survived the fighting in the city and on Bat-talan. There is grim fitness in the destiny which has made it also the strong point where the victors of that day are making their final effort.

They have lost the city and are being exterminated in the Bataan fox-holes.
Corregidor is the sole remaining stronghold where they could offer large scale battle.

The radio message from Tokyo is the swan song of Japanese power in the Philippines.

Germany or Hitler

"Nazi Germany is doomed. The German people will only make the cost of their defeat heavier by continued hopeless resistance."

These are plain words. They are quoted from the communique which told the world what had been decided at the conference at Yalta. They demolish the suggestion, broadcast by the enemy propagandists, that the conference might be expected to discard the "unconditional surrender" demand and offer to make peace by negotiated agreement. If Germans are able to read or hear this warning they will know, as the Allied peoples have known, that there never was any ground for such wishful thinking.

Back of this declaration is the further disclosed fact that while the political leaders were in conference the military experts of the three big Allied powers were drawing plans to co-ordinate and intensify the blows against the Reich. The German people know better than any one else what that will mean for them.

The warning is precisely worded. It is not Germany, but Nazi Germany, that is to be destroyed. The distinction is plain. Hitlerism and all it stands for must go. But there is to be no "pogrom," and the German state will not disappear. If its people differentiate between loyalty to their country and loyalty to the thugs who are driving it and them to destruction, they will serve both themselves and Germany.

More interesting to most people is the report that Canadians had last year bank
deposits and cash amounting to $6,075,
000,000. That was an increase of $3,300,
000,000 from 1939.

Broadly, the Bank thus functioned as an invisible tax-collector. That is not its sole nor its chief function, but an incidental part it plays in carrying out the national monetary policy. As the institution is Government-owned, its earnings go into the treasury.

More interesting to most people is the report that Canadians had last year bank
deposits and cash amounting to $6,075,
000,000. That was an increase of $3,300,
000,000 from 1939.

Subtracting government balances at the end of the year, the public had $2,600, 000,000.

000,000 more buying power than at the end of 1939. Of this increase, Mr. Graham Towers, governor of the Bank, estimates that about 60 per cent was in the deposit accounts, tills and pockets of individuals.

As a result of this improved cash position, it is noted that Victory Loan sales showed a continued increase among buyers of moderate means, and also a larger total of bonds held by such buyers.

Whatever disabilities Canadians may suffer at the present time, a shortage of money in circulation is plainly not one.

And against the preaching of "blue ruin" prophets of adversity to come, more Canadians than ever before are fortified against future trouble by bond-holdings, bank balances, and cash in their pockets.

The bonspiel over, we now get some cold weather.

In 36 hours 12,000 planes from British bases hammered key points in Germany, doing half the hammering at centres of resistance in the path of the advancing Russians. Dr. Goebbels had the right idea as as to what that Yalta conference portended.

The government of Chile has officially announced that it will declare war on Japan. This seems to leave Chile's next door neighbor, Argentina, the only large South American country which has not taken sides against the Axis. The action of Chile will blockade on the west the army of Nazi and Fascist—and perhaps Jap—spies and propagandists who have quartered themselves in the Argentine.

Mr. Malcolm MacDonald got down to realities when he told a Toronto audience that the chance of future world peace depends on whether or not education creates in men's minds an "intellectual and spiritual revolution which will make them capable of maintaining a secure and constructive peace." Germany and Japan are two countries where this "revolution" is long overdue. In those states education has been perverted to the purposes of aggression.

Russian Generals Simple Men

Widely Differing Types And Nationalities Are Represented

By HAROLD L. WEIR

Few Canadians have failed to marvel at the miraculous successes of the Russian armies.

Considerably less than 30 years ago, these armies, in spite of the individual bravery and hardihood of the Russian soldier, were lumbering and ineffective masses of men, ill-armed, ill-equipped and handicapped by corrupt and inefficient leadership.

Today we have seen the Russian forces perform prodigies of military craftsmanship in every European theatre where they have engaged the enemy, they have beaten back some of the most highly-trained troops in the world.

For it does not do to despise the German army. It has had first-class training, first-class discipline, unexcelled weapons and exceedingly capable leadership. All the life experience of most of the officers and men in the German army has been turned towards war. They have lived for the moment of taking up arms.

And yet the Russian divisions, which 30 years ago were a farcic have beaten them at every turn.

What is the secret?

Certain fervid proponents of the communist principle have declared that communism has wrought the change. I do not think it is anything so complicated as that. I do not think politics makes a great deal of difference in the conduct of the natural results of simple living.

They are close to all the phenomena of nature. And it is in the mastery of these elements that the Russians have excelled.

Being children of nature, they have made the forces of nature their allies.

Wars for example, used to bog down in winter. Yet the Red Army gained its first big victory over the Germans by opening up with a major offensive in winter.

Instead of avoiding the elements the Russian leaders have co-operated with them—an advantage de-riving from their peasant origin.

It is significant that it should be another winter offensive which is delivering what is hoped to be a knockout blow to the Germans in the north.

The virtues of the Russian military machine are the virtues of an educated peasantry, the virtues of a system based strongly on cooperation and the virtues of a regime which, while not despising experience, has thrown away the more entangling aspects of tradition.

From a peasant-reared class, the Soviets have developed a military command capable of coping successfully with the best military tradition of Prussia could produce

The hubbub of the 1944 campaign had hardly died away before the extreme isolationist wing of the Republican party typified by the Chicago Tribune opened a campaign against Dewey on the ground that he was too internationalist. When he stood up before 1100 leading Republicans at the Statler Hotel in Washington to deliver the traditional Lincoln Day address after a silence of three months, the keenest interest centred upon Dewey. He addressed the campaign platform renouncing, on behalf of the Republican party, its erstwhile isolationism. "Would he strike by his opposition to New Deal planning or attempt to swing his party towards economic centralism now fashionable in left-wing groups as ment of 60,000,000 post-war jobs?
a policy for creating full employment? Mr. Dewey left the matter in no doubt.

He uttered a ringing declaration aimed at other nations, that despite internal politics, the United States stands united behind President Roosevelt in his discussion of war and peace problems with other great powers. He singled out for approval the Vandenberg plan for American guarantees, along with other great powers, in keeping Germany and Japan disarmed in future. He assailed the Roosevelt administration, not for swinging American policy into direct responsibilities for world settlements.

His speech was quickly hailed as a symbol of fresh hope for the Republican party which under the influence of the late Wendell Wil-kie and the leadership of Mr.
Dewey, has adopted the interna-tionalist position. Dewey will securely maintain his position within the party without a strenuous fight, as the Chicago Tribune campaign against him already indicates.
But his present stand will greatly aid in securing congressional approval in the present session for measures designed to commit the United States to new world obligations.

Winfield Flier Reported Killed After Operational Trip Overseas

WINFIELD: Flt. Sgt. John Phillip Ellingson, whose parents reside here, has been killed in action overseas, according to word received here. The airman was serving with the RAF when he was killed Feb. 1.

Born at Wetaskiwin, he moved with his parents to a farm near Winfield, and was educated at the Seattle school. He enlisted in March, 1943 before he had reached his 18th birthday, and took his training at Edmonton, Pierce, Hamilton, Trenton and McDonald, Man. While at Hamilton, he won second place in his service studies and was given a week's holiday in New York and Buffalo. He arrived in England in December, 1943 and the following February transferred to the RAF and promoted to his last rank.

According to word received, he was buried at Brookwood cemetery, Brookwood, Woking, Surrey, England. A memorial service will be held in Winfield Sunday.

115 Attend Course In Farm Interests

RED DEER.—There was an attendance of 115 farmers and their wives at the first day of a two-day agricultural course held in the City Hall. This is the third annual course held here and is sponsored by the Provincial department of agriculture and the Red Deer Board of Trade. J. E. Birdsall, district agriculturalist, is in charge of arrangements.

Howard P. Wright, of Airdrie, president of the Alberta Seed Growers' Association, first speaker on Tuesday's program, took as his subject "The place of good seed in the farm program". He stated that good seed must be of the right variety for the district, have strong germination and be free from weeds, seeds and disease. He spoke highly of the good work done by Canadian plant breeders in developing varieties of seed which are adaptable to various conditions in Canada, and spoke favorably of the efforts of junior clubs in seed improvement. Through the work of the Crop Improvement Association it is now possible to get pure seed through any elevator agent.

"Beekeeping in the Red Deer district" was the subject of the talk given by L. Blades, provincial bee inspector. Honey production in Alberta had developed to a million dollar industry. The number of registered beekeepers in this part of the province had increased 300% in the past three years.

Appoint Frizzell To School Board

LACOMBE.—A. M. Frizzell has been appointed chairman of the Lacombe School board, succeeding W. N. Morrison, last year's chairman and board member for 20 years, who retired from office last week. William Kostash, of the University of Alberta, extension department spoke on "The interpretation of current history" at the regular meeting of the adult education class at the Lacombe school.

Frank Jones, 78-year-old district pioneer, collapsed and died instantly while walking on a downtown street. Death was believed due to heart failure. Surviving are three daughters and three sons.

A funeral service was held in St. Andrew's church for Mrs. Stanley Street, who died recently in a Calgary hospital. She was 57 years old. She is survived by her husband and one son.

Women curlers who are members of the Lacombe Curling club are staging an open bonspiel Friday and Saturday.

Maurice Weatherill, Bentley, and his 12-year-old son, escaped serious injury when their car skidded and turned over on the Gull Lake highway. The car was badly damaged.

The 31 rinks entered in the Lacombe open bonspiel went into their third day of play Wednesday. The fours in the Grand Challenge were played Thursday with the final in the evening.

Six Vermilionites At Mannville 'Spiei

VERMILION.—The curling club entered six rinks in the Mannville bonspiel this week. Skips were Butler, Corley, Heckbert, Lipsey, Park and Wilson. Heckbert was the only skip to reach the jewelry, having made the fours in the grand challenge.

On Tuesday several cases were heard in the police court sittings here. P. M. Noyes, Lloydminster, presided. Charges were laid under the war time regulations controlling the selling of tires. In one case, a dealer was charged with leaving two worn out tractor tires with a farmer after charging him for a pair of new ones. The dealer was convicted and fined $25 and costs or 29 days imprisonment.

Red Deer started off with a bang in the first period and had a three goal lead by the close of the session. Grove, Gibson and Holmes were the scorers. In the final round the visitors played their best hockey and drove in four goals while holding Red Deer blank. Laird got the first; Frizzell scored twice on passes from Lund, and Lund counted once from Laird.

Lacombe—Pendergast, Jackson, Gilmore, Lund, Frizzell, Young, Laird, Buss, Marshall, Laird, Red Deer—Johnson, Gibson, Abbott, Blades, Grove, Asmundson, Miller, Whyte, Scitland, Kannegger, Holmes, Scitland, Brown, Thompson.

Hardisty Seniors Defeat Sedgewick

HARDISTY.—In a hard-fought battle that kept spectators almost constantly on their toes, the Hardisty seniors defeated the Sedgewick hockey team at Sedgewick 4-2. Hardisty high school girls were downed by Hughenden, 5-2, in a women's hockey tilt.

At the annual school meeting, L. A. Benham was appointed to the school board. The Young People's Society raised $54 at a sale and tea. During the current mixed bonspiel, members are selling lunches in the evening. A bingo party sponsored by the Boys' Comfort Club raised $45 to be used in sending parcels to men from here serving overseas.

Dairymen's Assn. Officers Elected As Meet Closes

CALGARY, Feb. 16.—(CPI)—Alberta normally has 5,000 rural young men reaching farm age every year, yet 3,500 would be enough to maintain the present number of 100,000 farms, said O. S. Longman, Edmonton, deputy minister of agriculture, at the final session of the Alberta Dairymen's Association annual convention here yesterday. He urged consideration of the absorption of the extra 1,500 somewhere in the industry.

J. B. Ritchie, South Edmonton, secretary of the producers' section for 10 years, president in 1941 and first vice-president last year, was elected president of the association. W. L. Perley of Calgary, head of the buttermakers' section, was raised from second vice-president to first vice-president. R. Stanley, general manager of the Northern Alberta Dairy Pool and director-at-large, is second vice-president, and D. H. McCallum, provincial dairy commissioner, continues as secretary-treasurer.

Other directors of the central association are N. Reid Clarke of Didsbury, chairman of the producers' section; Harry Tucker of Calgary, chairman of the Dairy Cattle Breeders' Association; J. Mader of Glen Park, chairman of the cheesemakers' section, and D. Morkeberg of Markerville, chairman of the manufacturers' section.

J. R. Atkinson of St. Albert is vice-chairman of the Cattle Breeders' Association, and other directors are William Hudson, Kathryn A. L. Peterson, Edbury, and A. C. Anderson of Calgary. A. F. Bennett of Edmonton continues as secretary-treasurer.

The buttermakers elected S. Frederickson of Lethbridge vice-chairman. New directors are K. S. Anderson, Carstairs, L. Hjorth, Calgary, and W. Spooner, Edmonton. Life memberships were presented to C. E. Christensen, recently retired as general manager of the Northern Alberta Dairy Pool, and to J. B. Ritchie.

Winnipeg Theatres Are Still Closed

WINNIPEG, Feb. 16.—(CPI)—Winnipeg's leading motion picture theatres, usually brilliantly lighted, with flaming marquees and signs were dark last night as the two-day old strike of projectionists appeared no nearer settlement. The workers seek a closed shop.

Eighteen theatres, including all the larger downtown shows, were darkened, but crowds lined the streets in front of the few theatres, mostly independent, still open.

The strike kept 35,000 moviegoers from the shows. It was estimated by E. A. Zorn, regional manager, Famous Players theatres. But there was a mystery. Where did the 35,000 go for amusement? Managers of other amusement centres, dance halls, bowling alleys, sports events and service canteens, said there had been no increase in attendance.

Generally, it was believed movie patrons remained home.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

Today's Sport Parade

By Jack Cuddy

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—(BUP)—Admirable are the optimism and determination of old Bob Quinn. At 75 he steps down from the presidency of the Boston Braves to concentrate his efforts on their farm system. He hopes thereby to build up a first-division club, after 22 long years with second-division outfits.

Not since 1922, his great season with the St. Louis Browns, has a Quinn team in either major league finished in the upper bracket. During that period he was an executive with the Boston Red Sox, Brooklyn Dodgers and Boston Nationals.

"Honest Bob" lost his life savings with the Red Sox during nine heart-breaking seasons from 1923 through '32. Most men would have quit baseball then. But not the Irish gamecock—not the pint-size, gray-haired ex-catcher, who looked through his spectacles at life with a challenge in his eye and with chin held high. He stuck with the sport because of his love for the game and his faith in it. Also because of his determination to repeat the triumphs of his early career with the Browns and with Columbus of the American Association. But success in the standings evaded him. PRESIDENT SINCE '36

HE announced his decision to step down from the Braves' presidency Wednesday, his 75th birthday. He had been prexy of the Braves since '36.

Far from being disgusted or disappointed with baseball, old Bob is ever grateful to the sport for what it did for him. He explained this in a chat during the recent league meetings. He was born in Columbus, O., back in 1870—"Just a poor Irish kid, who had little chance for an education and who probably would have wound up as a laborer, were it not for baseball. The game gave me an education through contacts with persons I never have been able to meet in any other profession—and through travel. It lifted me up and made it possible for me to bring up my family properly. Certainly I've had my disappointments; but that wasn't the game's fault. No sir, baseball has been mighty good to me, and I appreciate it."

Quinn will be working with farm clubs, "watching the development of young players. He has his own pet theory about training young stars. He believes that the "lower minors" must pay more attention to youth, after peace comes, to improve the game. In the past, the majors made a double-barreled mistake, he says. They failed to make certain that managers in the lower minors had enough baseball savvy and interest in youngsters to develop proper new talent. And they failed to stimulate baseball interest in high schools and colleges, in competition with football.

WAS "COLLEGIATE" ONCE
DID Quinn ever go to college? Not exactly, although he was a "collegian" once. What was back around 1899, when he already had professional experience in the "boxers." The late Ernest S. Barnard, one-time president of the American League, then was athletic director at Oberlin college in Westerville, O.

Oberlin played stiff opponents. It was Barnard's custom to dig up a hired battery for key games. He would drive his horse and buggy 15 miles to Columbus and bring Quinn back with him to catch for Oberlin.

Old-timers insist that one of Oberlin's opponents, suspected Quinn of being a "ringer." Despite athletic director Barnard's protests of outraged innocence, officials of the rival college demanded a test for Quinn. And he was ruled out of the gang. He didn't know his college yell.

Ford Frick Says No Talks Planned With J. F. Byrnes

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Irritated by reports that baseball would waste little time in hurrying to Washington to clarify its status, Ford Frick, president of the National League, denied that any talks were planned with James F. Byrnes, war mobilization director, or other government officials.

"There is absolutely no truth in the stories," said Frick flatly. "Neither will I handle the president of the American League nor I have an appointment with Mr. Byrnes or anyone else in Washington and we are not seeking appointments with anyone, until we know what happens to the pending war-prior legislation."

Frick, who was named with Harbridge to represent the major leagues in Washington, said he would go to the capital only if there was a reason for doing so.

Henline Prouder Being an Umpire Than a Player

TAMPA, Fla., Feb. 16.—(AP)—It took Butch Henline six times as long to work his way into the major leagues as an umpire as he required to make the grade as a player. And he's a lot prouder of being a member of the National League umpiring staff than he was of being a catcher for the Phillies and the Dodgers in the senior circuit, and the White Sox in the American League.

"That doesn't mean," said Butch, "that I wasn't darned proud of being a major league player. I was. But the fact that I have been picked to umpire in the National League by men who realize how tough an umpire's job is, gives me even greater satisfaction."

Six years ago he realized his playing days were over and he wanted to stay in baseball. Acting on the advice of Bill Klem, dean of major league umpires, and boss of the arbiters in the National League, Henline got a job in the Southeastern League.

He performed so efficiently that his promotion from Class B to double A ball came within a year, and for the past five seasons he's been calling them as he sees them in the International League. This year he was picked for the majors.

Disputes Captives' "Right" to Escape

CALGARY, Feb. 16.—(CP)—Debate that German prisoners of war possess the right to try to escape from prison camps in Canada was made before the Alberta appeal court yesterday by C. S. Blanchard, KC, agent of the attorney-general in Calgary.

Mr. Blanchard is opposing the appeal of two German prisoners of war, August Kaehler and Otto Stolski, from conviction by Magistrate D. C. Sinclair on a charge of theft of a truck while working as farm helpers in the Strathmore district. The men were each sentenced to one year in jail.

He refuted the contention of J. S. Mayor, KC, who is acting for the Swiss government, that prisoners of war had the right to try and escape and they could not be convicted in the civil courts for an offence committed in aid of their escape.

CALGARY, Feb. 16.—(CP)—The appellate division of the Supreme Court of Alberta late yesterday reserved judgment on the appeal of two German prisoners of war, Otto Stolski and August Kaehler, from conviction on a charge of stealing a truck while attempting to escape.

Johnny McCormack Among OHA Leaders

TORONTO, Feb. 16.—(CP)—Leo Gravelle, St. Michael's college player from Quebec, has replaced Team-mate Johnny Blute as leading scorer in the Ontario Hockey Association's Junior A scoring race. Gravelle has 52 points while Blute, the leader all season, is one behind with 51. Joe Sadler and Edmonston's Johnny McCormack, also of St. Michael's, trail the leaders with 42 and 41 points, respectively. Two western products playing with St. Catharines Falcons, Laurie Peterson and Winnipeg's Doug McMurtry, and Tod Sloan of St. Michael's are next in line with 37 points.

Ken Watson Loses In Consols Final

WINNIPEG, Feb. 16.—(CP)—Howard Wood's Winnipeg Granite rink won its fourth Manitoba Curling championship Thursday night by defeating Ken Watson's Strathcona 12-6 in the British Consols final.

Wood, skip of the Dominion championship quartet in 1930 and '40, clinched the classic of the 57th annualspiel by scoring four rocks on the 11th end.

Watson, skip of Dominion championship rinks in 1936 and '42, won the grand aggregate earlier with 16 wins. His Strathconas suffered two defeats in eight days of play.

Wood's son, Lionel, is the lead of the Granite rink, with Bert Handford second and Al Derrett third.

U.S. Navy Also Cracks Down On Discharges of Athletes

By ERNEST BARCELLA

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—(BUP)—Professional sports, which has been losing more and more of its manpower during the past few months, suffered another jolt Thursday with the disclosure that the Navy had joined the Army in cracking down on the discharges of "apparently able-bodied" athletes.

Under an order issued by navy secretary James V. Forrestal on Jan. 25 to all ships and stations, the British United Press learned that henceforth such athletes may not be discharged from the Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard unless their cases are reviewed by superior officers in Washington.

Forrestal's proclamation, "essential to the national health, safety and interest," said final judgment in the discharge cases will be passed on by Vice Admiral Harold R. Jacobs, chief of staff personnel; Lt. Gen. A. A. Vandegrift, marine corps commandant; or Vice Admiral R. B. Waeche, coast guard commandant.

The order was interpreted to mean that unless otherwise decreed, scores of prominent athletes now in the naval service will not be able to return to their teams until Japan is beaten.

The action is further indication of a general crack down on professional sports by Washington officials. Since the order to reexamine all professional athletes who were placed in a 4-F classification was issued, several have been reassigned and in all but one instance found fit for service. The exception was Danny Libberty, St. Louis Cardinal outfielder. Among those who have been accepted on a second examination were Ron Southern, Philadelphia Phillies outfielder; Ray Mueller, Cincinnati Reds pitcher; Dom Dilestano, Chicago Cub outfielder, and several others.

The new navy ruling affects only stand-out athletes as Bill Dicker of the New York Yankees, Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox, Bob Feller of the Cleveland Indians, Johnny Vandermeer and Mike McCormack of the Cincinnati Reds, Pee-wee Reese and Billy Herman of the Brooklyn Dodgers, Barney McCasky and Virgil Trucks of the Detroit Tigers, Johnny Mize of the New York Giants, Johnny Hines of the Chicago White Sox and numerous others.

The new Forrestal ruling is similar to one issued by the war department a month ago. It also applies to naval personnel who have been prominent in the entertainment world—stage, screen and radio stars.

Every 29 hours during peace times a vessel sinks in some one of the seven seas.

Three Prelims Monday Night's Wrestling Card

In addition to the Ted Christy-Lee Grable main bout, three preliminary bouts also are included in Monday night's wrestling card at the Empire Theatre, the first being scheduled to start at 8:30 o'clock.

Promoter George Girvin stated Thursday that Maurice De Blesk will be back, this time appearing against "Indian Joe" Jacobs.

Emil Van Valen's opponent is Cecil Gerke, a neoreporter, and Steve Jowett, the "Beaver Kid" goes against Don Burley, the latter also showing for the first time at the Empire Theatre, a returned man, has been on all mat cards so far this season.

Ted Christy, the Hollywood grappler, at 230, will have about a 10-pound edge on the Los Angeles mountaineer Lee Grable. Christy, it will be recalled, won from Chief Thunderbolt here recently in what was by far the most colorful match to date.

The seat sale for Monday night's performance opened at Mike's this morning.

Setke Re-Elected

TORONTO, Feb. 16.—(CP)—Frank Setke of Toronto, was re-elected president of the Canadian Thoroughbred Horse Society at a meeting held Wednesday night. Dr. L. H. Appleby of Vancouver was elected vice-president and J. J. Robinson of Toronto was chosen secretary.

Directors named included James Sorensen of Winnipeg, Dr. Appleby and E. D. Adams of Calgary.

HEROES ARE MADE—NOT BORN

Out Our Way

By J. R. Williams

Coal Consumers Urged to Store Supply of Fuel

Coal consumers with space in cellars for coal storage are asked to put in supplies during the latter part of March and the beginning of April so that the most efficient use can be made of available manpower in Alberta's mines.

This appeal was made Friday by W. J. Taylor, Calgary, regional allocation officer for the Dominion coal controller. He said that operators now had sufficient orders on hand to carry them to March 1, and in the event of a prolonged cold snap the orders might extend to March 15.

Consumers by placing orders for the periods designated will insure for themselves their coal supply, and will enable the operators to utilize to the limit the services of some 500 men working in mines who will be called from their work at the expiration of their special work permits at the end of March.

CURIOUS WORLD

Says Red Cross Ready to Help Stricken Areas

The Canadian Red Cross stands ready to continue its magnificent work in aiding the peoples of war-torn countries, sending dried blood serum for the men at the fighting front, and parcels of food and comforts for Allied prisoners of war, but to do all this the organization needs ten million dollars, Jackson Dadds, CBE, chairman of the Society, said Friday.

He was addressing a joint luncheon meeting of the Canadian Red Cross Society, Edmonton branch, and the Men's Canadian Club, in the Macdonald hotel.

One of the Red Cross services which will loom large in the days that lie ahead is the building of Red Cross hospitals, adjacent to military hospitals. Mr. Dadds said, "The next-of-kin of patients in the hospitals may come to meet them in home surroundings, and if necessary, be provided with overnight accommodation."

PLAN TO CONTINUE

With this wartime program there is coupled a program of peace-time service which must go on into the years with unbroken efficiency, the speaker said. Outpost hospitals for the frontier settlements of the Dominion; the Junior program of assistance to crippled children; nutrition, first aid and home nursing.

"The whole world has been ravaged by war," Mr. Dadds said. "Men and machines have striven mightily for five long years. The result is devastation to the lands wherein the conflict raged. We stand on the threshold of the rebuilding time. For cities will rise again, and smoke will go up from the chimneys of peaceful homes once more. There will be land tilled, and grain sown, and the pattern of normal life will emerge once more."

"How soon will that depend a great deal on the help we have given our men, willingly, and with fortitude. But the peoples on the other side of the ocean have not only sent their soldiers to war, they have been made homeless, wounded, and suffering from the terror and savagery of modern warfare."

If Canada is to accept her obligations, Mr. Dadds said, it is up to us to stretch out a generous hand and donate money to meet the needs of the Canadian Red Cross. Ten million dollars was needed to purchase materials, and keep all the functions of this vast organization operating.

PART OF LIFE

"Red Cross is an integral part of Canadian life," Mr. Dadds said. "It has come to mean something to Canadians, both at home and abroad. They look upon it with a feeling of justifiable pride because it is their flag."

"Hand in glove with the giving of funds has been the giving of a great gift, the gift of blood that dried blood serum might be produced in vast quantities to save our wounded on all fighting fronts," the chairman said. "Here is a gift that could never be described in mere words. It is written in the faces of the men, near to death, who rally, receive life to come home again. Blood donor centres for Red Cross, numbering some 400, have been and must continue to be those all-important places where a donor keeps an appointment with life—life for another man."

MUCH COAL MINED

Approximately 250,000 tons of coal had been produced in government-operated strip mines in Alberta, Mr. Taylor stated. This production, he added, had helped to meet the production loss between Jan. 15 and June 1, 1944, occasioned through lack of manpower and shortage of orders due to extremely mild weather.

Mr. Taylor said that coal shipments have been made to Ontario, and that there was a probability that next season these shipments would be greatly increased. This made it essential that consumers in Alberta should stock up as early as possible so that the shipments to outside markets can be met.

Lack of consumer co-operation in taking early delivery of coal supplies might mean a graded allocation during the rush production periods, Mr. Taylor said as he again appealed to consumers to lay in their coal stocks before the frost leaves the ground this spring.

Mercy Mission Of RCAF Plane Ended Happily

HALIFAX, Feb. 16.—(CP)—A mercy mission of an RCAF bomber ended happily for Lt. Cmdr. C. B. "Tiny" Herman, Herman, now in command of a Canadian corvette, was notified by his wife that his eight-months old daughter, Carol Ann, was seriously ill with meningitis, but upon arriving home in the bomber he found that the critical stage had been passed and the child was on the way to recovery. Thursday, doctors believed the child would not live more than 12 hours, but administration of sulfa and penicillin drugs brought a favorable response.

Conversion Charge Is Dismissed Here

A theft by conversion charge against John J. Kushnir, Wainstaco district farmer, was dismissed in supreme court Friday by Mr. Justice H. H. Parlee, there being no sufficient evidence to sustain a conviction.

Kushnir was charged with converting to his own use $30 of $50 paid him by Mike Chernichan, district farmer, requiring him to pay the amount alleged to have been converted to William Verbitsky, a thresher.

Before the Magistrate

Terry Bohaychuk, 20-year-old Edmontonian, was fined $25 or one month in jail, Friday morning, after pleading guilty to "left of a quantity of gasoline before Magistrate I. R. Jackson. The magistrate advised the accused "to walk straight and narrow path from now on."

Bohaychuk, the court was told, bought a 1937 car—"which use a lot of gas." Running out of gas, he helped himself to some from another person's car. He had been advised to sell the vehicle, which was only getting him into trouble.

Neal Dunlop, pleading guilty to two counts of having possession of stolen property, was placed on suspended sentence for two years. He was ordered to report monthly to city police during that period, and also to support his family.

Elsie Ward who "would rather go to the Good Shepherd home than to Fort Saskatchewan Jail," was sentenced to 24 hours in jail, dating from the time of her arrest, and did the most "up residence" at the home for the next six months.

Expect to Make Early Start On Construction of Pilot Plant

"Flow sheets" showing design of the $250,000 pilot plant to be built on Alberta Oil Sands Ltd. property at Bitumound, in the Athabasca tar sand region, now are being prepared by engineers and actual construction work will begin as soon as plans are completed, Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, said Friday.

Money to construct the pilot plant has been advanced by the provincial government. The plant will determine feasibility of extraction of oil from the northern tar sands at a cost comparable to production of oil well petroleum products.

Engineers planning construction of the extraction plant are Dr. K. A. Clark, University of Alberta, and Martin Neilson, Edmonton, and Mr. Fallow said. Dr. Clark has done considerable lar sand research work for the Research Council of Alberta, while Mr. Neilson was formerly in charge of an oil extraction plant at Abasand.
